THE TRADES ASSEMBLY. interesting Matters Considered at its Meet ing at Bellaire.

The Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly held its regular session yesterday at Bellaire. It was known beforehand that there would be some very interesting business brought forward and there was an unusually large attendance.

there was an unusually large attendance.
The meeting was, as had been anticipated, a very interesting one, and there is, it is hinted, a not remote possibility of the action taken resulting in something still more interesting. The following particulars have been learned:

At the last meeting of the Assembly, three weeks ago, a resolution was introduced ordering that the five or six men who compose the mill committee for the three weeks ago, a resolution was introduced ordering that the five or six method compose the mill committee for the Riverside, steel plant at Benwood, be listed as "black sheep." The events that led up to this being offered date back over two months—to the time the K. of L. and the Amalgamated Association were quarreling over who should control at the Riverside's steel plant where the K. of L. had had possession for a year, and where their scale was the one signed, after some few modifications had been made. The Trades Assembly scanne involved in that matter and relused to receive as representatives those sent by the K. of L. assembles at Benwood, Before that even, the trouble between the K. of L. and Amalgamation over the question of supremacy in iron and steel matters had been rather lively, The men formerly employed at the

between the K. of L. and Amaigamation over the question of supremacy in iron and steel matters had been rather lively.

The men formerly employed at the Brilliant belong to the Amaigamation. They went on a strike and are still out, while the mill is being run as a non-more will.

Trades Assembly stated that the mill committee at the Riverside had been in-formed by them that the mill was sending steel to the Brilliant "scab" mill and that it ought to be protested against and stopped; and this was said to the men whose representatives the Amalgamastopped; and this was said to the men whose representatives the Amalgamation men and their friends had refused to admit into the Assembly. The mill committee took no steps in the matter, nor even protested. Thus the Brilliant representatives reported to the Trades Assembly, and it yesterday voted to list the committee as "black-sheep."

As soon as the vote was announced the representatives from the mixed K. of L. assembly, No. 2323, and the Riverside tube workers' assembly, both of Benwood, stated that anticipating such action they had been instructed to Welby Crimmel, of Glover's Gap, W.

action they had been instructed to withdraw their lodges' interest and rep-resentation in the Trades Assembly. It is hinted that this time, the K. of L.

sa an all-around player.—Sanduaky Register.

Sanduaky has a pair of twin brothers by the name of Westlake, who keep the umpire puzzled as to which one has just been to the bat. Several times yesterday some one of the club or in the crowd would say, "He has been put out; how often does that fellow go to the bat?" They resemble each other very much and in batting turn they come very close together.—Zanæville Signal.

Manager O'Neil, of the Kalamazoo tam, did a very ungracious thing when he telegraphed from Mansfield after the stinging defeat his team suffered there, to the Kalamazoo Gazette, for which he reports the games played away from home, that the official score was far from correct because there was no one there or at anyother place in the League that knew how to score, or they purto fight it out for themselves—something on the principle of a survival of the fittest.
